UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

For the second consecutive year, Illinois opened its season on a winning note, as the squad captured its second straight team title at the Windy City Invitational Saturday night in Chicago. Illinois tallied an overall team score of 355.400 to top three other top-10 teams. Illini individuals claimed the top spot on five of six events to defeat defending national champion, No. 2 Michigan (346.100), along with No. 8 Minnesota (340.700), No. 6 Ohio State (339.800), No. 10 Iowa (332.800) and host No. 12 UIC (327.300).

Leading the way for the Illini were seniors Paul Ruggeri and Chad Wiest, who each claimed two first-place finishes in the event finals. Ruggeri claimed the top spot in the all-around (88.900) and on high bar (15.800), while Wiest won on floor (16.000) and vault with a career-high score of 15.900. Additionally, C.J. Padera captured a first-place finish on parallel bars with a career-best score of 15.200.

Several Illini posted second-place finishes in the finals, including Tyler Mizoguchi in the all-around (88.200) and on parallel bars (14.900), Ruggeri on floor (15.300), Daniel Ribeiro on pommel horse (15.300) and Anthony Sacramento on rings (15.000).

Also contributing was freshman Jordan Valdez, who tied for third on high bar (14.300) with Mizoguchi in his collegiate debut on the event, while Mizoguchi placed fourth on floor and tied for fifth on vault (15.700) with teammates Ruggeri and Yoshi Mori.

PENN STATE UNIVERSITY

Penn State extended its title-winning streak at the West Point Open to 13 consecutive, compiling a team score of 347.000 to outdistance the field on Jan. 14, 2011 at host Army.

The Nittany Lions continued their dominance of east region teams, besting Temple (328.300), Army (320.000), Navy (319.600), Springfield College (318.900) in addition to club team Brockport (263.600) to claim the 2011 crown at the 20th annual West Point Open. Penn State won five events as a team and six different Nittany Lions secured at least a share of an event title. Three Nittany Lions advanced to the individual finals in each event, the maximum number allowed under competition rules.

For the second straight year at the West Point Open, Miguel Pineda headlined a dominating top-three sweep of the still rings. The junior won the event with a stellar score of 15.400 while Scott Rosenthal placed second (15.200) and Felix Aronovich and redshirt freshman Nihir Kothari tied for third (14.900).

Mackenzie Dow and Colin Hill led a 1-2-3 Penn State finish in the parallel bars, tying for the title with a score of 14.600, a career-high mark for both Nittany Lions. Warren Yang placed third, just off the pace with a 14.500.

Matt Albrecht captured his first ever title in the high bar, scoring a career-high 14.800.

Despite struggling in the pommel horse overall as a team, Penn State managed to claim both first and third place in the event. Competing in his first collegiate meet, freshman Preston Gall made a quick impression, taking the top spot (13.700). Albrecht and Dow shared third place with a score of 13.200.

While Penn State did not win the vault as a team, redshirt freshman Francisco Vazquez secured his first career title win in the event with a score of 15.700.

Parker Raque won his second consecutive all-around title to start the season, topping his week one score by posting a six-event cumulative total of 84.300. He also placed first in the floor exercise, scoring a career-high 15.200, and tied for second in the high bar

In the event finals: Raque 2nd FX, 5th HB; Hill 3rd FX, 7th PB; Burbar 6th FX; Gall 3rd PH; Albrecht 7th PH, 4th V, 1st HB; Dow 8th PH, 2nd HB; Rosenthal 1st SR; Kithari 3rd SR; Pineda 4th SR; Vasquez 2nd V; Yang 8th PB.

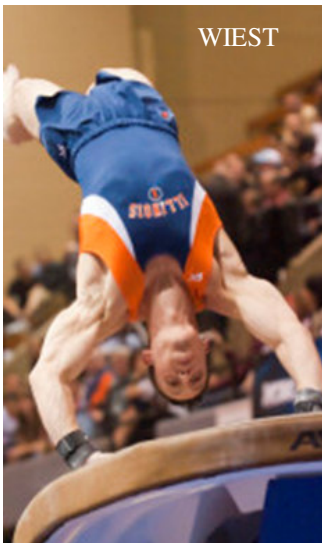

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

The University of Michigan kicked off the 2010-11 schedule by placing second out of six teams at the 41st Windy City Invitational on Saturday (Jan. 15) inside the UIC Physical Education Building.

The Wolverines began competition on the PB's. In his first NCAA competition, freshman Michael Myler started off the rotation with a solid hit routine, scoring a 13.60. The momentum continued for the remainder of the event, with freshman Sam Mikulak leading the team, picking up a 14.5 score.

Situated in fourth place, the second rotation brought Michigan to the HB, where Ian Makowske, the 2010 NCAA runner-up in the event, put up a 14.50.

Moving to the FX for the third rotation, Michigan struggled with several falls. The rotation, however, was highlighted by Thomas Kelley posting a 15.2 with a powerful piked arabian double front for his first pass.

Unable to regain their footing moving into the fourth rotation on PH, the team suffered more missed routines. On a bright note for the event, 2010 NCAA all-around champion, Chris Cameron, posted a 15.00, bringing the team to its feet with his trademark flairs.

The fifth rotation on Rings was led by Cameron posting a 14.90, followed by Kelley with a 14.30 and Rohan Sebastian with a 14.20.

Going into the last rotation still placed in fourth, there was a tight race between Ohio State, Minnesota and Michigan, with Illinois far ahead in first. The vault rotation, a higher scoring event, started with Kelley sticking his 1.5 twisting vault. Appearing to have found their stride again, the Wolverines hit five strong vaults in a row marked by Sebastian's 15.6, moving U-M into second place in the team standings.

PENN STATE UNIVERSITY

No. 7 Penn State opened its 2011 season with a 343.300-319.100 victory over No. 15 Army on Jan. 8 at Rec Hall. The Nittany Lions won all six events as a team and, along with the all-around, captured five of six individual titles.

Scott Rosenthal led Penn State, winning the still rings with a stellar score of 15.400. The mark, which was a career-high for the former walk on, also eclipsed the team season best from a year ago. For his performance, Rosenthal was honored with the Gene Wettstone Award for the meet.

Another member of the talented sophomore class, Parker Raque, had a strong showing. Competing in the all-around for the first time in his career, he placed first with a score of 83.100. Raque won the vault title (15.800) and finished second in the high bar (13.500) and fourth in the floor exercise (13.700).

Warren Yang, who missed all of last season due to a shoulder injury, placed first in the floor exercise (14.400) and third in the parallel bars in his welcomed return to the Penn State line-up.

Penn State was particularly impressive in the pommel horse, equaling its team-high score from 2010 (57.600) just one week into the 2011 season. Felix Aronovich, the 2010 Big Ten Co-Freshman of the Year, headlined the event for the Nittany Lions, winning by tying his career best score of 15.100. Miguel Pineda (14.600) and redshirt freshman Francisco Vazquez (14.400) completed the top three PSU sweep in the event.

Pineda accounted for Penn State's final individual title, claiming the top spot in the parallel bars with a score of 14.300. Matt Albrecht placed second (13.800) in the event, one of two second place finishes for the team captain in the Lions' 2011 debut.
