Highlighted by a combined share of seven first-place finishes, the Air Force gymnastics "silver" team defeated its "blue" counterparts during the fourth annual Blue-Silver Co-Ed Intrasquad Meet on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Gymnasts from Team Silver (239.050) claimed three of the four women's titles and a share of four of six men's titles to defeat the Silver Squad (237.550). The overall team scores were determined by using the top two individual scores from each team.

Senior Devin Menefee and freshman Nick Gaudlip paced the Silver Squad, as each gymnast collected a pair of first-place finishes.

Menefee won the still rings (14.700) and tied for first on the vault (14.900), while Gaudlip took first on the floor exercise (14.200) and high bar (13.800).

Freshman Josh Ramos collected two wins for the Blue Team. Ramos won the parallel bars (13.800) and tied for first on the vault (14.900) with Menefee. Freshman Corbin Palmer rounded out the scoring finishers with a 13.200 win on the pommel horse.

Also scoring for the Silver Squad were junior James Okamoto and sophomore Mac Ritchie, who finished second on the pommel horse (12.600) and high bar (13.100), respectively.

In addition to his event titles for the Blue Team, Ramos finished second on the floor (13.500). Sophomores Tyler Huebner and Ben Zaiser tied for second on the rings with matching scores of 13.700, while freshman Skyler Awisus took second on the parallel bars (13.700).

In official NCAA scoring the men tallied a total score of 320.900.
